► HOME AND DESIGN RETAILERS FEATURED AT SOUTH BAY HOME & DESIGN SHOW

Silicon Valley was an apt locale for this year's technologically savvy South Bay Home & Design Show at the Santa Clara Convention Center, which took place September 8–10. The show featured more than 300 exhibitors; innovative products on display included University Electric's TMIO combination oven/refrigerator, the only product of its kind. In addition, Woodenbridge Custom Cabinetry and Granite showed a complete state-of-the-art kitchen with custom-made hood, University Electric appliances and All Natural Stone countertops. Homeowners also got the chance to take a good look at the handsome offerings of Atherton Appliance & Kitchens, Clint Stone, Inc., Paver Depot, Phantom Screens/Screen Solutions and S.E.A. Construction.

◀ CONTEMPORARY JEWISH MUSEUM CELEBRATES GROUNDBREAKING

Roughly 750 guests attended the groundbreaking of the Contemporary Jewish Museum's new 63,000-square-foot home in the heart of the Yerba Buena Center arts district on July 19. Designed by internationally renowned architect Daniel Libeskind, the new building incorporates the historic Jessie Street power substation into the museum's design, preserving the district's history and creating a new landmark. The new building is scheduled to open in the spring of 2008.

◀ NAPA VALLEY'S WINNING BIDS

At the Napa Valley Museum, attendees of the "Great Getaways: Dine & Design" event bid on a bevy of silent auction items, ranging from collectible wines to a Michael Homes-designed table for 10. Sponsored by California Home + Design, the September 9 event was hosted by the museum at St. Supéry Vineyards and Winery in Rutherford. Ten Napa Valley and Bay Area artists donated their works to the event, benefiting the museum's exhibitions and educational programs.
